

CINEMA 360 3D VIDEO PACKAGE – THE NEMESIS

The Ultimate Home Cinema setup!!

A lot of movies are filmed in the 2:35:1 aspect ratio-when you watch on a 16:9 screen you get those annoying black bars top and bottom because the 1920 x 1080 resolution is compromised to the extent where 1080 is less than 800. The ideal is to watch a 2:35:1 movie on a 2:35:1 screen where NONE of the 1920 x 1080 res. is lost in black bars, to utilise all the resolution possible-and all the 1920 x 1080 panel display.

How can this be done?

Well, you need to stretch the picture up and down then left and right, you need a 2:35:1 screen, a prism lens that allows the squeeze -ideally one that allows 16:9 pass-through if required and a 1920 x 1080 projector. (longer throw lens is better).

Also with the prism lens, one can alter to suit the size of the screen to accommodate aspect ratios that are not standard.

Projectiondreams is the first in the UK. to offer these packages and has chosen the kit carefully to achieve the total synergy necessary for a crack 2:35:1 setup!

The screenshots below show the step-up in quality that comes from moving from DVD to Blu-ray (this is just as significant in the audio side as well). The third picture shows the high-quality Blu-ray image shown on a curved screen, just like at the cinema. It brings a more natural and immersive experience for the viewer and setup correctly shows far more depth to the image.
